

LVMA Today

September 2009

Welcome to a new school year! We've already created some wonderful memories these first few weeks. I am looking forward to a successful and rewarding school year with your child!

Thank you to all of the parents who contributed to the wish list that was posted at the Open House BBQ. You've helped us to start the school year with a full supply of every day consumables. Thanks so much!!

Please take note of our Communication board in the garage. You'll find the topics of the day posted there each week. Use this information to discuss these topics at home or explore further at the library or on the computer.

Please note that our Class Picture Day is coming up in October. More information will be provided in an upcoming Friday folder. Stay tuned!

Remember to check the LVMA photo page, www.lvma.shutterfly.com, for updated pictures of your child. Not only can you view pictures, you can post comments, chat in a parent forum, answer polls, view a detailed calendar and much more. It is my hope that this can be an online gathering place for us to share ideas and get better acquainted. Please feel free to share the log-in ID and password with trusted family and friends only.

Children who are reading may be given books to take home for extra reading practice. Please try to return the books on the next school day because other children might be waiting for that book. This also instills a sense of responsibility in your child. If you ever feel the books are too difficult or too easy for your child's ability level, do not hesitate to discuss this with me.

Next week, we'll be heading to Strawberry Acres for some apple picking fun! If you haven't already, please submit the field trip form and payment so I can call with a final head count. Remember, younger siblings are welcome to attend!
